By regular air traffic, which is carried out through the international airport Constantine the Great, Niš is connected by direct flights with many cities in Western Europe, such as Vienna, Berlin, Dortmund, Frankfurt, Keln, Milan, Stockholm, Malmö, Zurich, Basel, Ljubljana, Istanbul, Corfu, Malta... Tourists are able to come to Niš at very affordable prices. The airport is located 6.6 km from the center of Niš, connected by a regular public transport line no. 34 (A and B direction). An affordable taxi service is available from and to the airport.

By car

Niš has an excellent road connection, because it is situated in a location that has connected Europe with the Middle East for centuries. Corridor 10 is one of the most important pan-European traffic corridors passing through Serbia. It connects Austria (Salzburg), Hungary (Budapest), Slovenia (Ljubljana), Croatia (Zagreb), Serbia (Belgrade and Niš), Bulgaria (Sofia), North Macedonia (Skopje) and Greece (Thessaloniki) via the E-75 highway. Near Niš, the road forks to the south, towards Thessaloniki (E-75), and east, towards Bulgaria (Sofia) and Turkey (Istanbul) via the E-80 highway.

By bus

Regional and international bus lines arrive and depart from the main bus station in Niš, which is located only 850 m from the city center. In addition to the main station, there are public transport stops, from which you can reach the airport, which is only 4.7 km away, by line 34 (direction B or direction A, if you are coming from the airport to the main bus station). You can reach the city stop in the city center, where almost all other lines pass, on foot or by line 3. Line 1 leads to Niška Banja (Niš Spa) and stops next to The Skull Tower and Mediana.

WHY NIŠ

THE CITY OF "MERAK"

Every city has something special by which it is recognizable, in Niš it is „merak“. The most charming city in Serbia, and beyond, which embraces you, warmly welcomes and sends you off. It is a city you come back to again and a city where you always find a friend for life. People are happy, they laugh out loud, they nurture their old-fashioned accent, they have business and private conversations in taverns. There is always a reason to celebrate and have a good time. The influences of various cultures and civilizations have left a strong mark on the gastronomy of Niš. Here you can eat burek with cheese for breakfast with a glass of yogurt, for lunch appetizers from various salads, Moravian or Serbian, with a glass of „rakia“, cow, sheep and goat cheese from Suva or Stara Mountains and the famous Niš barbecue as a main course, with Niš beer, or wine from local wineries. Nobody refuses sweets - „baklava“, „tulumba“ or „tufahija“ are on the menu of all Niš taverns. Evening entertainment in Niš does not pass without good music. Evening in Niš is accompanied by traditional music in taverns, good rock and pop sound of Niš bands in cafes, and jazz is music that the people of Niš like to listen to and to which they have dedicated the most-visited festival Nišville. Humor, good food, good music, good time, and memories that do not fade are the best translation for „merak“.

LONG HISTORY

Tradition says that the Celts lived in this area as early as the 3rd century BC. Inspired by the pagan belief in river fairies, the Celts named the river „Fairy River“ (Naisa), and their city „Fairy City“ (Navissos). Niš was a cultural, economic and military seat and birthplace of the Roman emperor Constantine the Great. The Roman, Byzantine and Ottoman empires, the First and Second World Wars, left an indelible mark on the culture and tradition of today's Niš. And on the basis of archeological excavations, it can be concluded that the territory on which the city of Niš is located today has been inhabited by human communities since the Middle Paleolithic period.

01 Niš Fortress

The symbol of the city Niš Fortress is a cultural monument of great importance. With its immediate surroundings, it has been under state protection since 1948. Located in the very center of the city on the right bank of the Nišava River, its final shape, after numerous demolitions and renovations, was given in 1723, when the Turks restored it. Inside the fortress, there are buildings not run over by time from the Turkish period, such as the Bali-bey Mosque, arsenal, blacksmiths, hammam (now the Nišville Jazz Museum). Discovered too are the remains of prehistoric, ancient, Byzantine, medieval periods, such as an Ancient street, Roman baths, lapidarium, palace with octagon, a bronze head of Constantine the Great, a statue of Jupiter, etc. Even today, the Niš Fortress lives as an inseparable tissue of the city center and the capital of festivals, knightly games, tourists, and good times.

02 Mediana

Archaeological park Mediana, declared an immovable cultural asset of exceptional importance, is located halfway from the center of Niš to Niš Spa. Tourists can see the remains of a Roman settlement built during Emperor Constantine's the Great and the sons' reign, from the end of the 3rd and beginning of the 4th century. This Roman settlement, made up of a complex of summer residences such as urban villas and a large farm by the road leading to Serdica and Constantinople, was also a temporary residence of Roman emperors, a summer house for rest, enjoyment, and treatment with thermal spa waters, decorated with mosaics, gardens, and sculptures. Among the researched buildings, the following stand out: a villa with a peristyle, baths, a wine cellar, a palace with an octagonal tower, two early Christian churches, and a necropolis.

03 The Skull Tower

A cultural monument of exceptional importance from the time of the First Serbian Uprising was built by the Turks from the built-up heads of the killed Serbian insurgents after the Battle of Čegar as a sign of revenge. Hurshid-pasha, ordering the Serbian insurgents oldiers „ćurčijama“ to skin their heads and fill their skins with cotton, sent them to the sultan in Constantinople as a sign of victory. The tower left a painful impression on the inhabitants of Niš, and at night, they were secretly removing the skulls from the walls and buried them in the cemetery. Primarily there were 952 skulls built on the tower, and today only 58 of them remain. With the voluntary contributions of the whole of Serbia, a chapel was built, which still exists today.

04 The Monument Čegar

A cultural monument of exceptional importance was built on the hill Čegar not far from Niš, where the famous Battle of Čegar took place. The occasion for its construction was the fiftieth anniversary of the victory over the Turks on June 1, 1927. The commander of the Serbian insurgents on Čegar, Duke Stevan Sindelić, in 1809 accomplished a heroic feat. When he saw that he could not expel more numerous Turks from the trench, that many Serbs had already perished, and so that he would not fall alive into the hands of the Turks, he stopped the further invasion of the Turks by shooting powder magazine, lost his life and thus ended the battle. After twice as many Turks died as Serbs, Hurshid-pasha built The Skull Tower in the same year.

05 Memorial Park Bubanj

The Memorial Park Bubanj was built in memory of more than ten thousand citizens of Niš and southern Serbia who were shot during the Second World War. Prisoners were taken from the concentration camp „Red Cross“ one of the few authentic memorial complexes in Europe today and shot at Bubanj. In addition to the white marble monument, with imprinted scenes of suffering and final victory, three strong fists symbolize resistance to the occupiers. Fists of different sizes represent the fist of a man, a woman, and a child, as the symbol of fallen victims.

06 Banovina Building

The former building of the old Niš administration and the Cabinet of the Prime Minister of Serbia, Nikola Pašić, in which a telegram was received on July 28, 1914, by which Austria-Hungary declared war on Serbia, formally marking the beginning of the First World War. It is located across the Niš Fortress, and was built after the liberation from the Turks in 1878 as a building which, with its position, dimensions and stylistic characteristics, represented a monumental and most representative building of the former Niš. Today, the building of the Banovina houses the University of Niš, the Regional Chamber of Commerce of Niš and the Institute for the Protection of Cultural Monuments of Niš. In front of Banovina, there is a monument dedicated to the meeting between the Serbian prefect Stefan Nemanja and the German emperor Friedrich Barbarossa, when they signed the first Serbian-German agreement in 1189.

07 Orthodox Cathedral

Orthodox Cathedral in Niš has a significant place in Serbian history and art, both in terms of its architecture and its iconostasis. The third-largest in Serbia, this temple is dedicated to the descent of the Holy Spirit - the Holy Trinity. It was made in different styles, Serbian and Romanesque-Byzantine style, Renaissance, Baroque, there are even styles of Islamic architecture. During the Allied bombing in 1944, the temple was damaged, and in 2001 it burned completely in a fire. The temple was completely renovated in 2006 with the help of voluntary contributions from Niš businessmen and the Government of the Republic of Serbia. The Church of Holy Archangels Michael and Gabriel, known as the Small Cathedral, was the first Orthodox Cathedral of the Diocese of Niš until the consecration of the Orthodox Cathedral of Niš in 1878. Today it is a cultural monument of great importance, and is located in the courtyard of the parish.

08 Monasteries

The hill Kamenički Vis and the hill Čegar near Niš, which have been of great importance since ancient times, hide three jewels of the spiritual treasure of this region. Latin Church, built in the 11th century during the Byzantine rule in this area, the Monastery of St. John from the 14th century and the Church of St. Petka, built on the foundations of a Roman church in which Stevan Sindjelić's army received communion before the battle of Čegar. The monasteries and churches of the Sićevo gorge, which were built for centuries in its hidden areas, are part of the rich cultural heritage of the Serbian people. Numerous monks, fleeing from east to west before the invasion of the Turks, found their refuge here, so the area of the Sićevo gorge became a kind of little Holy Mountain. The most important among them are the Monastery of the Presentation of the Most Holy Mother of God in Sićevo, on the left side of Nišava River, and the only military monastery in Serbia, Saint Petka Iverica in the village of Ostrovica.

09 Tinkers Alley

In addition to numerous historical sites, Niš also offers a walk along the river promenade, the pedestrian zone of King Milan Square, Obrenovićeve Street, and Tinkers Alley „Kazandžijsko sokače“, the only preserved part of the old Niš bazaar, which today houses bars and taverns with traditional cuisine. It is located in Kopitareva Street, which connects Obrenovićeve Street, from the monument dedicated to Stevan Sremac and his characters from the novel „Ivkova Slava“ - Kalča and the dog Čapa, with a plateau near the tavern Stara Srbija, known for its numerous cafes. In the past, the sound of hoops for barrels, copper pots, pots for rakia and old-town stories echoed through this alley. Today there is still noise from residents of Niš, domestic and foreign tourists, artists, and business people because everyone finds their place and time for „Kazandžijsko“.

10 Niš Spa

Niš Spa, famous for its healing thermal water, is located only 12 km from the center of Niš. Archaeological findings confirm the existence of a small settlement on this territory in the time of the Celts, mainly around the source of hot medicinal water while during the reign of Emperor Constantine and his successors at Mediana there was a bath in which the aqueduct brought beneficial thermal water. The spa was also a resting area of the Turkish emperor Suleiman I, and Serbian kings Milan and Alexander Obrenović and king Alexander Karađorđević also gladly used it for treatment. The surrounding of the spa is ideal for active holidays, hiking, mountain running, rock climbing, mountain biking, rafting, and paragliding.

Officers Club was also the site of various cultural and entertainment events in the city, and after the reconstruction in 2015, there are three units in the building, a wedding hall where many couples will say a fateful „yes“ and two halls where it is possible to organize different cultural-artistic events.

More than sixty years of creativity in professional puppet-theater knowledge and promotion of national, but also world puppet art and culture, exist in the work of the Puppet Theater Niš. Puppet theater plays an important role in the aesthetic and moral education of children. With their stage action, they develop children's imagination and curiosity, and through the stage illusion, they give answers to all the moral, ethical and aesthetic dilemmas to which children and young people are exposed in everyday life. The basic concept of the theater is based on nurturing tradition and cultural heritage, which indicates to children the identity and heritage from which they come, but also on the diversity of topics and motives, which they learn and become citizens of the world. A theater hall with 212 seats and a club where a cocktail party can be held, with lighting, audio and video equipment, can be a good choice for organizing business or jubilee gatherings.

Restaurant Stambolijski is a place where you can try the specialties of traditional and modern Balkan cuisine. What sets this restaurant apart from other restaurants in the city is its bakery and delicacies prepared in the manner of Slow Food philosophy, which uses an abundance of indigenous ingredients, helps self-sustaining agricultural communities and works closely with herbalists and mushroom growers. From the menu of this restaurant, you can learn what the potential of a fairy-tale region means, growing a dish from the humble roots of grandmother's kitchen to a sophisticated interpretation of world cuisine. The menu was created by the famous Serbian chef Sasa Mišić, also known through the television series Hell's Kitchen.

This is a place where food consumption is a real pleasure. Be sure to try the beef and lamb prepared under „sač“ (slow cooking in a ceramic pot, covered with ashes and fired wood), top-quality cocktails and wines and cakes without additives. All the food prepared in this restaurant uses organic ingredients.

Tavern Stara Srbija is a rare tavern and building that can be said to be a symbol of a city with a tradition of over 120 years. Through its checkered tablecloths, it „turned over“ many things and wrote the history of both the city of Niš and Serbia.

Stara Srbija is located in the old commercial part of the city on the place where there used to be a caravanserai, a place where craftsmen and statesmen gathered. In the very center of the city, on the plateau near Tinkers Alley, it is still an ideal place for family and business lunches and all tourists who want to enjoy the traditional cuisine and atmosphere.

04 Restaurant Amerikanac

Kovanlučka Str. 10, Niš • tel: +381 63 89 37 873; +381 63 19 22 701
Face Book @amerikanac.restoran • Instagram @restoran_amerikanac

Restaurant Amerikanac, founded in 1925 by Nikola Mandić upon his return from America, has been considered a cult place for decades, and being a guest of this restaurant was a matter of prestige not only in Niš and Serbia but throughout the former Yugoslavia. The famous Niš brand, which hosted the most famous people of the former Yugoslavia, a favorite place where actors gladly gathered, especially during the Film Festival, is located in a quiet part of town, near the center, and yet away from the crowds and noise. The guests of this restaurant were also one of the most famous Hollywood couples - Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. Popular specialties at that time were „kavurma“ (braised lambs meat cubes browned into their own fat) and „urnebes salad“ (mixed white cheese and hot chili peppers), prepared by Dragica Mandić, famous for her nickname „Keva“, about which Momo Kapor also wrote in one of his works.

Today, in a spacious garden with natural shade and tables that are sufficiently separated from each other to enjoy privacy, you can try specialties such as veal head and tails, mini vine leaves rolls, barbecue, and many others. Thanks to the local atmosphere, far-famed local food, and ethno-ambiance, this tavern was and remains a cult place in Niš.

05 Wine Cellar Malča

Wine lovers will be able to experience a unique journey through wine time, from Roman times to the present day, in the over 110-year-old wine cellar. In sightseeing and tasting four completely different ways of cultivating wine, you will experience four different wine epochs, characteristic for those times, the Roman, medieval Serbia of the Nemanjić dynasty, the Serbian house, and the modern winery. What makes the Malča cellar recognizable and unique in Serbia is the wine that is aged in amphorae, just like in Roman times. Within the cellar is a restaurant „inn on the wine road“ with an unusual offer of food from different eras and a menu that includes Roman, Serbian, vegetarian, and dishes from the time of the Nemanjić dynasty. In addition to the indoor part of the restaurant, there is also a beautiful garden which is the right place to enjoy during the summer months, but also during the winter when it turns into a glazed garden terrace.
„Enjoy stories about wine and wine culture“.

06 Tavern Nišlijska Mehana

Nišlijska Mehana, located in the center of Niš, started working in 1994. In the summer of the same year, it became one of the most favorite gathering places of all Niš residents, and over time it reached and maintained the status of the most visited taverns in Niš. In a real home environment, the tavern has an indoor capacity of 90 seats and a summer garden with a capacity of 30 seats (entrance from Prvomajska Street), as well as another 110 seats in the new part (entrance from Kralja Stefana Prvovenčanog Street).

In addition to standard dishes, roasting under the grill and barbecue specialties, following a tradition of over a quarter of a century, here you can try old Serbian dishes that are already a bit forgotten. The authentic bohemian atmosphere and the recognizable spirit of Niš, along with the kindness and famous hospitality of Niš, will fulfill the standards of even the most demanding guests.
„With the smell and taste of old Niš - let all the senses enjoy.“

07 Tavern Biser

Tavern Biser has a tradition of over 40 years. Older residents of Niš, „true meraklije“, remember it as one of the first gathering places in the city. Today, in addition to the old cafe in the very center of the city in Koste Stamenkovića Street, near the Municipality building, guests can also enjoy the Saint Sava park, as well as the newly opened facility next to the Niš Fortress and tennis courts.

The spirit of old Niš is woven into all three ethno-taverns Biser, starting from excellent local specialties, through wood interiors, to old-town music, which altogether does not leave Niš residents of all ages, nor guests from other parts of Serbia and the world indifferent. „Come to the Biser tavern and see for yourself!“

08 Tavern Meze

Stop by the Meze tavern for traditional Serbian cuisine. Try grandma's salads, cooked dishes, grandpa's roast, pour homemade wine, and sweeten with homemade cakes. „Sukana gibanica“ (hand-made phyllo dough cheese pie), mini vine leaves rolls, veal broth, dried stuffed peppers, and veal under „sač“ (slow cooking in a ceramic pot, covered with ashes and fired wood) are just some of the specialties we recommend.

In an unusual and very attractive ethno-ambiance, indulge in the atmosphere in which the hosts tell you: „When you put your feet under the table the magic begins.“

www.dusanovkonak.com • info@dusanovkonak.com

Ethno-tavern Dušanov konak is located in the wider center of Niš in Dušanova Street and is simple to locate. It is decorated in ethno-style, combining stone, solid brick, and wood. Plaid curtains, clay, and wooden utensils, as well as a relaxed atmosphere with tambourines, will complete the entire ambiance of old Niš. The restaurant has a garden in an ethno-ambiance with lots of greenery and a fountain, where you will feel like you are in the countryside, and not in the center of Niš.

The restaurant also has a roastery where dishes are prepared traditionally, while various national specialties are served in earthenware, which makes Dušanov konak recognizable. Rakia is served in „unučići“ (special glass) with „kajmak“ (dairy cream spread), „proja“ (bread loaf made of cornflour), sheep's cheese, cow's cheese, and sauerkraut during the winter. After a good appetizer, you can try veal broth, homemade „sukana pita“ stuffed with cheese, greens, or cabbage. And for the main course, we recommend trying gourmet dishes such as veal tails, peasant meat, mini wine leaves wraps, smoked ham, „pasulj na tavče“ (Serbian baked beans), or a large selection of barbecue and fish specialties.

„If you are only passing through Niš, there is even more reason to stop by and feel the spirit of old Niš.“

The old Niš tavern, located on the outskirts of the city, near the Niš airport Emperor Constantine, has been building its reputation on the same location for twenty-eight years. Although it is not in the center of the city and it has not existed so long for the old bohemians to talk about it, there is no Niš resident, nor businessman from Serbia, who have not heard of the Mrak tavern, a place where food is the best in the city.

Here, you will enjoy grilled specialties prepared exclusively according to the recipe and skills of the tavern owner himself. Meat delicacies prepared from three or four types of meat will definitely leave you speechless. Here, each bite will have a different and more fulfilling taste. In addition to various specialties, they especially stand out for their mutton burgers. The recommendation of this tavern is that you should not skip homemade rakia with appetizers, or quality wine with and after a meal.

Close to the city, and yet far enough away from the city bustle and hectic lifestyle, in the pleasant atmosphere of the indoor part of the tavern, as well as the beautiful stone garden, you can enjoy homemade dishes prepared in the traditional way. In this oasis of peace, fresh country air, and tradition, your pleasure will be complemented by some of the house's specialties, such as Suva Planina sheep cheese, mini wine leaves rolls, stuffed dried peppers, Serbian baked beans, smoked pork legs, mutton, a large selection of grilled dishes, and the widely known „Brkin čevap“ (čevap/čevapčići are grilled minced meat shaped in small rolls), „sukana pita“ and homemade sour milk.

CULTURE & ART

The path of culture in Niš reflects in the tangible and intangible heritage of the millennium-long history of this city. As a crossroads, it is often called the gate of East and West. Two important roads, one for Constantinople, known as Via Militaris and the Constantinople Road, and the other Moravian-Vardar, which led to Thessaloniki and Athens, contributed to historical dynamics and functionality, interactive movements of people, exchange of goods, ideas, knowledge, and values. That influenced Niš to become the most important cultural center of southern and eastern Serbia.

The National Museum with a collection of over forty thousand objects, which includes a large chronological scope, including facilities- the Memorial Museum in the concentration camp building, the Synagogue Gallery, The Skull Tower, Mediana, and the legates of poet Branko Miljković and novelist Stevan Sremac, testifies to the past and art. The historical archive of Niš is one of the most important institutions, which gathers the experience of previous generations in the form of written material and photographs, which largely defines the present and shapes the future. National Theatre, founded at the end of the nineteenth century, was one of the first in Serbia. The Niš Symphony Orchestra has existed for almost seventy years and is the only one in Serbia outside Belgrade. Representatives of the culture and art of the city are certainly the Niš Cultural Center, as well as the Student Cultural Center, numerous galleries, and various events. Nišville is the most visited jazz music festival in Serbia, recognizable around the world, which in addition to a dedication to this type of music, made a great contribution to the opening of a jazz museum in the former Turkish hammam in Niš Fortress, as well as the importance of Roma music created by famous Niš resident, Šaban Bajramović. His creative work was exhibited at the famous Delta Mississippi Blues Museum and other museums across America, which nurture the heritage of jazz and blues, are also interested in his work.

Niš is a recognizable city for its relaxed atmosphere and a good time, full gardens of cafes and restaurants with the first rays of the sun and hospitable locals, who will always take you or recommend a good place for an evening out.

The bars are mostly concentrated around the pedestrian zone, they are easy to find, and the Niš trend is to change more places during the evening because maybe you will meet someone famous there. Wherever you are, in Obrenovićevea street, Tinkers Alley, on the promenade, or in one of the bars located in the walls of the Niš Fortress, you will not make a mistake. Live music of various genres is all around you.

In recent years, two more locations in the city have become popular, where you can certainly find a good place for moments of relaxation and conversation with friends. The street next to Čair Park and Sports Hall Čair is full of cafes, and Saint Sava Park, located not far from the city center, on Nemanjić Boulevard, is recognizable by The Church of the Holy Emperor Constantine and Empress Helena, but also by numerous cafes and restaurants where there is another free seat.

SHOPPING

The pedestrian zone of Obrenovićevea Street, which also houses one of the info centers of the Tourist Organization of Niš, in addition to numerous gardens and cafes, is also attractive for bars of various brands, the Forum shopping center, and the famous Kalča shopping center. Built on the site where the cult Niš tavern Kalča once existed, named after the most famous Niš goldsmith, hunter, and bohemian, Mikal Nikolić Kalča, it remains to bear witness to some ancient times next to the monument and the Tinkers Alley.

If you thought that was all, a real surprise awaits you in the underground passage, which leads along the entire Obrenovićevea Street and the central King Milan Square, popularly called „Kod konja“ (at the horse monument). The underground passage built in the early 1990s has two purposes. One is to reduce congestion on the streets of the city, and the other is to serve as an underground shopping center, with more than three hundred stores where consumer goods are sold.

More recently a representative shopping center in Niš is Delta Planet, on the corner of Nemanjić Boulevard and the bridge leading to Jagodina Mala, known, among other things, for the necropolis and early Christian basilica from the Roman era. Delta is home to many domestic and foreign brands. With its diverse offer, it will provide shopping lovers with the enjoyment of current fashion collections, and numerous entertainment facilities, cafes, and restaurants will turn every visit into a real outing.

On the way to The Skull Tower and Niš Spa, there is a Stop shop with recognizable brands for fans of „casual“ fashion, sports, movies, or just a coffee break. In the immediate vicinity, along Mediana Boulevard, there are numerous home improvement stores and supermarkets such as DIS, Lidl, and Aman.

The Hub - pub & club is located in the center of Niš in a house built during the first decades of the twentieth century, which in the seventies became the central venue of the hippie movement. The street in which the house is located was known as the Hippie Valley, which during the evening was full of young people of broad understanding, who were taking a walk, exchanged records, stood leaning on the facades. In those years, the first disco "Trinaestica" (thirteen) was opened across the street in the former hotel Niš, today New City Hotel & Restaurant. Generations of those who considered themselves urban children grew up and fell in love here. Today, this place is characterized by a sophisticated atmosphere, with some new „jazz-funk-soul-house-lounge-chill“ sounds, a trendy menu, light conversations, and smiling faces. The Hub is a place of connection and meeting, where you come for a dose of a good time and leave with a smile and full of positive energy.
